NCD Scheme Members,

Joint Statement between SFFLA and D&D Control (M) Sdn Bhd with regards to CLA Fee (E-Assure) and CPC Charges.

This Joint statement between SFFLA and D&D Control (M) Sdn Bhd is to clarify the CLA Fee or E-Assure fees incurred by SFFLA NCD members. SFFLA NCD Members are not liable for E-Assure fees (CLA Fee).

However, SFFLA NCD members have to be vigilant to verify the following: -

1. If NCD members are using D&D Control's Container Ledger Account (CLA) instead of NCD account to release e-Delivery Order.
2. If NCD members' consignee is using their own CLA account to release e-Delivery Order;
3. If NCD members have overdue detention/demurrage or container damage charges not paid to shipping liners or NVOCC.

Under circumstances listed above, D&D Control may charge e-Assure Fees, also known as CLA Fee (RM10.00), in which the e-DO container release will be under CLA's scheme. Please verify with D&D Control's team if there are any discrepancies.

Additionally, SFFLA NCD members are NOT liable for CPC fee of RM 10.00, unless the following applies: -

1. SFFLA NCD members or direct consignees request for the aforementioned insurance scheme.

Note that CPC charges and CLA fee are both different charges, although the charge item is at RM 10.00. SFFLA NCD Members are to be vigilant whether your container's e-Delivery Order release is under NCD account or D&D Control's CLA Account.
